

Subject: Last chance to register

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here

Sunday, April 5, 2009

2:00PM

Our Guests

ADOPTED, The Movie

FILM and

DISCUSSION

Director/Executive Producer

Barb Lee

and

Producer

Nancy Kim Parsons will be joining us.

The Boulton Center
37 West Main Street
Bay Shore, NY 11706
(631) 969-1101

www.boultoncenter.org

The concession stand will be open and refreshment will be available for purchase.

$12 per person

This film is relevant to families of international adoptees from all countries. We HIGHLY encourage you to bring extended family and any other adoptive parents you. Please feel free to forward to friends, relatives, your agency or anyone else you think might be interested in attending.

Theater doors open at 1:30pm,
Movie will start at exactly 2pm and we will end before 5pm

Directions: <http://www.boultoncenter.org/DirectionsAndParking.aspx>

Learn from other parents about how they coped with adoption issues in their own families

Register Online at www.FCCNY.org - follow links for Event

Learn how to become your adopted child's best ally

Registration

Learn what makes adoptive families closer than ever before

 Please note: If you are not a current registered member of FCC-LI and you want to attend our events - or if you know of someone who would like to attend an event - you / they CAN register online, visit

<https://www.fccny.org/FCCStore/OpenStores/FCCEventStore/WelcomePage.asp>

and at the bottom right corner click "IGNORE" - it will bypass the login screen and allow for a secure purchase to be made, even if you are not a member

Event Chairperson: Kristen Hayes
kristenh@fccli.org
631-608-8546
Reply By (RSVP) Date: March 31, 2009

Promotion Name

This film is appropriate for teens and older. There are issues related to families, adoption and ethnicity that might be challenging for some. This film will likely lead to some important and powerful discussions within families, so parents should expect to talk about it afterward.

About ADOPTED: We've seen them in grocery stores, playgrounds and at our children's schools - little Asian girls with their loving white parents. Of the 1.5 million adopted children in the United States, international adoptees are the fastest growing segment, of which most are Asian girls. While many of their stories are heartwarming and reflect our image of American compassion and generosity, the realities are much more complex. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, adoptees have significantly more behavioral problems than non-adopted children.

ADOPTED reveals the grit rather than the glamor of transracial adoption. First-time director Barb Lee goes deep into the intimate lives of two well-meaning families and shows us the subtle challenges they face. One family is just beginning the process of adopting a baby from China and is filled with hope and possibility. The other family's adopted Korean daughter is now 32 years old. Prompted by her adoptive mother's terminal illness, she tries to create the bond they never had. The results are riveting, unpredictable and telling. While the two families are at opposite ends of the journey, their stories converge to show us that love isn't always enough.

Producer/Director Barb Lee and her Co-Producer Nancy Kim Parsons always wanted to tell the story of international adoption in America, an issue they know particularly well as Korean adoptees. With this deeply personal understanding, they set out to create a documentary that revealed the complexities of transracial adoption without making judgments or telling the viewer what to think. Instead, they decided to explore the many layers of transracial adoption and they began by expanding their understanding beyond their personal experiences. For more information about this film visit www.adoptedthemovie.com

ADOPTED, The Movie
View Trailer Here

Forward email

 SafeUnsubscribe®

This email was sent to info@fccli.org by info@fccli.org.

Update Profile/Email Address | Instant removal with SafeUnsubscribe™ | Privacy Policy.

Email Marketing by

FCC - Long Island | 594 Easton Street | Ronkonkoma | NY | 11779