The Chinese Adopted Siblings Program for Youth (CASPY) at Columbia for kids 6-11yrs will be held on Sunday, April 4th 2010

Hello! We just wanted to inform members of your organization that registration for this year's CASPY at Columbia University is officially open. So if any are interested, please have them register soon! The Chinese Adopted Siblings Program for Youth (CASPY) brings together families with adopted Chinese children and Chinese American college students for a day of fun and learning. We at Columbia are proud to host the fourth annual CASPY in New York this year.

CASPY is geared towards children from ages 6 to 11. Spaces are limited, so preference will be given to children who fall within this age group.

For more information including how to register, please visit our website at <http://www.columbia.edu/cu/tasa/caspy.htm>

Date: Sunday, April 4th 2010

Time: Registration will begin at 8:30AM and CASPY will begin at 9:30AM

Location: Lerner Hall 5th Floor
2960 Broadway,
New York, NY 10027

Sincerely,

Angela Shih

About Us

Description:

The Chinese Adopted Siblings Programs for Youth is a one-day event where Big Sib volunteers from Columbia mentor Chinese children adopted into non-Chinese families. A collaborative effort between Asian American Alliance (AAA) and Taiwanese American Student Association (TASA), CASPY functions as a cultural immersion program for the children participants and a social support-networking program for the parents of these children. The day consists of cultural workshops that range from Chinese yo-yo to calligraphy, a night-market style activities fair, a talent show, and much more. Through CASPY, we hope to connect with a unique population within the APA community, while addressing issues that fall under the Asian Diaspora. In many ways, CASPY functions as a program that looks beyond the face value for these families, creating a safe haven for cultural exploration and dialogue.
